About the Seminar:

This seminar is designed to empower pharma production and packing professionals with the knowledge and skills needed to excel in an evolving manufacturing landscape. With growing expectations around automation, regulatory compliance, and operational efficiency, the seminar focuses on practical themes that directly impact productivity and quality outcomes.

Participants will gain insights into the role of Automation and AI, improve cross-functional capability through Engineering for Non-Engineers, and explore proven methods to enhance performance through Operational Excellence and Waste Reduction. A thought-provoking panel discussion on All-Time Readiness for Quality Audits will further equip attendees to build a culture of preparedness and compliance.

The seminar aims to encourage continuous improvement, knowledge sharing, and future-readiness within pharma manufacturing teams. It offers an ideal platform for learning, collaboration, and professional growth.
